"All in a day's work" refers to any task that is done routinely. It can be negative (e.g. tasks you don't care for doing), neutral, ironic, etc. based upon speaker preferences. As for origins, the definitions made reference to nautical navigation, and I believe they were referring to Celestial Navigation.

They were all nine years old, and if there had been a day, seven years ago, when the sun came out for an hour and showed its face to the stunned world, they could not recall. Sometimes, at night, she heard them stir, in remembrance, and she knew they were dreaming and remembering gold or a yellow crayon or a coin large enough to buy the world with.
